LARGE BOND SALE MADE

C. & H. Refinery Sixes
Bring a Goodly Premium.

Yesterday afternoon the Hawaiian Trust Company concluded a purchase of $20,000 of the six per cent bonds of the California & Hawaiian Refinery Company. The price was 101.50 and the bonds were bought for a customer of the Hawaiian Trust Company.

This particular bond is the only outside security listed on the Honolulu Stock Exchange. There are corporations on the list whose head offices are in San Francisco but the property of which, whether represented by stocks or bonds, is in the Hawaiian Islands. In the case of the refinery here mentioned, the control of the stock is held by Hawaiian planters but the property is in California. Hence the company's bond is in the form required by the California law.

That the refinery bond should command a premium just after being listed on the local exchange indicates strong confidence in the enterprise and the people controlling it.

THO' M'GIFFIN'S FATHER IS DEAD

News was received yesterday of the death at Washington, Pa., on July 30, of Col. Norton McGiffin, father of Thomas McGiffin of Honolulu. The deceased was 81 years of age. The Army and Navy Journal says: Colonel McGiffin was born in Washington and came of a distinguished family. He graduated from Washington College in 1841, and went to Uniontown and read law with the late Judge Ewing. When the Mexican War broke out he enlisted with the 1st Regiment, Pennsylvania Volunteers, and served throughout the war, participating in the principal engagements. Colonel McGiffin was injured in the battle of Pueblo. At the close of the war McGiffin received his commission as colonel from the Governor of Pennsylvania. He entered politics and served as county treasurer and sheriff. In 1861 he served in the 12th Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry, and was elected lieutenant colonel. At the close of his three months' term of service he was transferred to the 85th Regiment, Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry, retaining his rank of lieutenant colonel. During the Peninsula campaign he contracted fever and was compelled to resign his commission. He engaged in farming in Washington County for ten years, and was elected on the Republican ticket for State Legislature. In 1890 he received the appointment of United States Consul at Port Rowan, in Ontario, Canada, and in 1892 was appointed Consul at Port Hope, Canada, where he remained for two years. In 1893 he married Miss Sarah Houston Quail, and to them were born six children—Mrs. G. W. Henshaw, of Washington; Thomas McGiffin, of Honolulu; Hawaii; James Q. McGiffin, who died several years ago; Philo Norton McGiffin, who died in 1896, as a result of wounds received in the conflict with Japan; and Rev. Nathaniel McGiffin, pastor of a Presbyterian church in Nebraska. Mrs. McGiffin died in January, 1903, on the day following the fiftieth anniversary of her marriage.

Captain Norton McGiffin who commanded the Chinese warship, was one of the heroes of that disastrous war on the Chinese side. The vessel which McGiffin commanded was battered by the Japanese warships. It was one of the first opportunistic nations had to judge of the worth of armored vessels. Those aboard the Chinese ship ascertained, however, that to be on a vessel getting the worst of it, was no joke. The concussion from bursting shells tore McGiffin's clothes to shreds, and his hearing was completely shattered. He was then a fine-looking, well-built man. But the result of the conflict and his wounds reduced him, a few years later, almost to a skeleton, and his mind gave way. He died by his own hand in New York City.

One more newspaper man has joined the ranks of the small farmers, showing that he has faith in the fight that he has been making ever since he came to Hawaii four years ago. G. B. Robertson, the founder and until recently the editor and proprietor of the Maui News, has bought a tract of the government land recently opened at Puupukea, on this island, and will go out and live upon the place and farm it. Mr. Robertson came to Hawaii a little more than four years ago, and prospered by dint of hard and honest work. It goes without saying that he will continue to prosper, and that his small farm will be a model in the course of a very few years.

HACKMEN TO MAKE FIGHT

Judge Whitney Decides Liverymen Cannot Solicit Fares.

The Attorney-general has got some further legal light on the rights of hackmen and livery men, respectively, to solicit trade at the wharves upon the arrival of steamers. It seems that there was a misunderstanding about the ruling of District Judge Whitney in the case of the liveryman who was arrested for soliciting on the wharves, to the detriment of the business of the hackmen.

As a matter of fact, it has become a common thing for drivers of livery rigs and automobiles to frequent the wharves upon the arrival of steamers, and solicit trade in opposition to the regularly licensed hackmen. The hackmen protested, and at last had one particular driver of a livery rig arrested in order to make a test case. And, after he had been arrested, the hackmen seemed to forget it for a time. At all events, they produced no evidence in court that the man had been soliciting trade. The driver arrested, whose interest in the affair was more vivid, testified that he had not gone there to solicit trade, but that the stable to which the rig belonged had been ordered to send it to the wharf to meet a particular man. This man was met and hauled away.

It was on this showing that the driver was discharged. Judge Whitney delivering a written opinion in which he held distinctly that the livery license did not cover the right to do a hack business. Of course, that makes a difference, and the hackmen will probably now proceed against their enemies.

SUPERVISORS WILL FIGHT

the basis of the working days in the month.

In the present month there are 27 working days, and each laborer would be entitled by this system to as many twenty-sevenths of the month as he has worked days. By the former system, the laborer would be entitled to the number of days worked plus the additional Sundays allowed and his pay would be at the rate of 1-31 of $45 per day.

I request instructions from the supervisors as to which system I shall adopt in paying off the men for the month of August. I have my own ideas as to the best method, but as the two methods have been subjects of considerable acrimonious controversy in the community recently, I do not care to adopt either without the authority of the Honorable Board.

Very respectfully,
C. M. WHITE,
Acting Superintendent of Garbage and Excavator Service.

An anonymous communication was read before the board calling attention to the "frightful" condition of Queen street. The letter was badly spelled and written, and signed "Kewalo Resident." The board decided to take no notice of anonymous communications.

County Attorney Douthitt appeared before the board in regard to the blanket warrant which will be submitted to the Supreme Court, that the letter may settle the question as to whether the supervisors have the right to order the head of a department to pay off the men under him, or whether they should be paid by separate warrants.

The warrant in question is a salary

KENTWELL COMPLAINS OF CHINESE EXCLUSION LAW

"I have studied the Chinese exclusion laws very carefully," said L. K. Kentwell, who leaves for the mainland on the China today, "and I find that it bears very hardly upon the exempt classes, even. If a man has any Chinese blood in him whatever, even to one twentieth part, and the officials find it out, the law runs against him. Take my own case. My mother was Chinese, and my father an English sea captain. I never had any trouble with the restriction law until after I went to Manila. I have visited the mainland, I have lived in New York, I have been here, there and everywhere. They did not know I had Chinese blood in my veins, and no officer bothered me."

"When I came back to Honolulu from Manila, the Immigration Officer said that he knew me, and that the law ran against me. He asked me for my papers. I had no papers, and had some trouble in establishing my right to land. I looked up the law, and I found that he was right. I had Chinese blood in my veins. My mother was Chinese. Now, in going to the Coast from Honolulu, I have to have a certificate with my photograph attached, or I run the chance of being refused a landing."

"The case of Wong Him is another in point. He is an American citizen,
